About Me

Hello! My name is Imen Sassi. I am so excited to be your child's teacher for this school year. I grew up in Tunisia, North Africa, where I earned my high school degree. Last year, I was working at Little Pioneers Academy as a teacher assistant. I just finished my CDA, and I am working on my Secondary Education Math major at Ivy Tech Community College.

I have a good life now with my husband and my three daughters, and insha'Allah I will have a great school year with your child who I will care for as if he is my own!
